Summer-Time Look at Basketball Sees Tigers Ranked again with Nation's Top Teams

Over a period of the past quarter century, no spectator sport at Princeton has been more firmly entrenched than basketball. In the early summer of 1975, it continues to make off-season news, and there are clear indications that the Tigers will remain for some time in the national spotlight which picked them up again last March in Madison Square Garden.

Victory in the National Invitation Tournament, a series of four triumphs which saw the undermanned Orange and Black knock off one favored team after another, could hardly have come at a more opportune time. Within a few weeks after Coach Pete Carril's precision-like "drill team" had successively conquered Holy Cross, South Carolina, Oregon and Providence, admission acceptances from prospective freshmen were due at colleges throughout the country.

While there are good and logical reasons for a high school senior to make Princeton his first choice among several colleges which have accepted him, the aura created by a team winning a national championship in the sport he favors is likely to add to his enthusiasm. Princeton won the NIT not because it had more and better players but because the smaller number of good players it had performed to the utmost of their ability after having been coached in a manner that taught them how to do so.

All of this inevitably played a part in the decision of a senior at Christian Brothers Academy in Lynbrook, N.J., to turn down Notre Dame and North Carolina--and their athletic scholarships--for Princeton. Bob Roma, a 6-8 center who had been widely sought by colleges in all parts of the nation, will enter Princeton next fall, giving the Tigers the potential "good big man" about whom the sport revolves at both the amateur and the professional level. In the Princeton recruiting plan for the Class of 1979, he was, Pete Carril agrees, "important, very important."

Possibly just as much of a coup as having Roma select Princeton over Notre Dame (his other semifinal choice) was the decision of a highly-rated Philadelphia schoolboy to leave Penn, the Palestra and the Big Five behind. Basketball there is occasionally second to no other metropolitan center in the nation, but 6-7 Bob Carver, a LaSalle High School senior, will play for the Princeton freshmen next fall.

There is unusual height on the squad, a quality the Tigers have sorely lacked in the past couple of years while winning the NIT with what was often a four-guard offense. Tallest of the newcomers will be 6-9 Tom Young from Simsbury, Conn., while John Dunlay, a 6-6 forward from Long Island, will find at least four others who have an inch or more on him.

Backcourt ability for balance also appears to be there, as it was on this year's freshmen, who compiled a 17-1 mark in a schedule somewhat softened by economic factors ranging from travel restrictions to

Sen. Martindell Introduces Legislation to Retain Present Method of Apportioning School Costs

Two weeks ago Plainsboro Township Committee sent a resolution to the New Jersey State Assembly urging that the proposed "thorough and efficient" education bill be modified so that homeowners there will not be suddenly hit with an enormous increase in their property taxes. A week ago Plainsboro residents began a letter and telegram campaign urging their state representatives to vote against the bill. This week Princeton Borough Council joined in the opposition, sending the Assembly a resolution urging that the present version of the bill not be passed.

While all this was going on, Senator Anne C. Martindell of Princeton, one of the sponsors of the original bill in the Senate, was talking to her milkman, who is from Plainsboro and is one of her constituents. "He told me the taxes on his house might go up by $1,000," said Senator Martindell. "This bill just isn't fair to Plainsboro or Princeton Borough."

What form of lobbying turned out to be most effective is anyone's guess, but the end result is that Senator Martindell has introduced legislation in the Senate that would preserve the present method of apportioning school costs on a per pupil basis within any regional school district established prior to the enactment of the "thorough and efficient" bill.

This grandfather clause would exempt districts like Princeton and Plainsboro from the section of the "thorough and efficient" bill requiring local school costs to be shared on the basis of equalized valuations of tax rates.

Because the Borough has more rates than pupils in proportion to the Township, its share of school costs under the present version of the proposed law would be increased by about $435,000, according to estimates. Plainsboro, which has fewer pupils than its regional school district partner, West Windsor, would also have to increase its share of support for the school budget. Individual taxpayers there would be hurt even harder than those in the Borough, if the present "thorough and efficient" bill is passed into law without some sort of modification.

Other Efforts. In addition to Senator Martindell's grandfather bill, other efforts were being proposed in Trenton by Princeton area legislators. Assemblyman Karl Weidel introduced an amendment to the "thorough and efficient" bill that would allow school districts to choose either the per-pupil basis of sharing local costs or the tax rates method—just as the present law currently allows.

Assemblyman Walter Foran, along with a host of other legislators, has introduced another bill that would phase the new method of accounting, as prescribed in the "thorough and efficient" bill, over a three-year period, thus lessening the immediate impact on communities like the Borough and Plainsboro.

Senator Martindell expects that her new bill will pass both houses of the legislature. Borough politicians, including Councilwoman Nelson van den Blink, mayoral candidate Jan Schaefer, and former Councilman Charles Cornforth, have been in Trenton this week trying to rally support for her bill. Mayor Cawley has vowed support for either the Martindell or Weidel measures.

But the real test of any of these proposals will come in the courts. "Opponents of this grandfather clause argue that it's unconstitutional," Mrs. Martindell said. "I say let's put it to the courts and find out."

Court Pressure. The "thorough and efficient" bill was introduced in response to the Robinson vs. Cahill, or Botter decision, which required New Jersey to finance its system of public education in a more equitable manner that did not depend so heavily on local property taxes.

One other court decision also hangs over the legislators' heads. That is the State Supreme Court ruling of May 23 stating that, if the legislature does not come up with a means of achieving a "thorough and efficient" education for all New Jersey children, then the court will take its own steps to redistribute state aid to education. If the court had its way, Princeton could stand to lose as much as $622,496 in state aid for the 1976-'77 school year.

Failure to pass the "thorough and efficient" bill, in other words, might have even worse consequences for Princeton than those envisioned from the bill in its present form.

The ultimate impact of the "thorough and efficient" bill on a municipality like the Borough or the Township appeared to hinge on what kind of an income tax bill would finally be passed in Trenton. Evidence early this week suggested that the Democrats were finally working together to pass an income tax that would provide some relief to property owners throughout the state.

If an income tax is finally enacted and if it enables the state to increase its level of support for education above the current level of 28 percent, then the local portion of costs will be decreased accordingly and the issue of how those local costs will be shared among municipalities will be diminished somewhat in intensity.

Speaking at his weekly press conference, Mayor Cawley explained that the proposal for the new ordinance grew out of a substantial number of recommendations made by the Rent Leveling Board. "The first ordinance didn't seem to Princeton Concerns. In Princeton, however, not much more state aid can be expected in any case, since the thrust of the recent court decisions is that money should be redistributed to those districts needing it most. So the politicians continue to argue over the way in which local costs are shared.

Leonard Etz, a Democratic candidate for Township Committee, feels that the per-pupil basis of sharing is "constitutionally undesirable if not unallowable." The tax rates basis, he said, "is more equitable and is more in keeping with the State Supreme Court's overall intentions for school financing—that education should be of benefit to the entire community and not that individual parents should be made to pay, in effect, tuition."

"If one part of the district had all the pupils and the other side had all the rates, it would be obviously unfair and regressive to make the side with the children pay all the school costs," said Mr. Etz. "If the picture is more cloudy in the Borough and if this system does impose a hardship on fixed income people, then the real villain is the property tax itself. More burden of school support should be placed on the state."

When told that Mrs. Martindell had introduced a "grandfather clause," Mr. Etz sounded surprised. "She did? I'll have to talk to her about that." He said he would favor a three or even five-year phase-in period, but not a complete abrogation of the principle.

Inner City. "On paper it's a grand principle," said Mrs. van den Blink of the tax rate method of sharing costs. "But in reality it's a different story." Mrs. van den Blink agreed that the property tax structure is regressive, but she argued that the immediate impact of the proposed "thorough and efficient" bill would merely make it more so.

The Borough is the inner city in this situation—relatively speaking," said the councilwoman. "How are you ever going to maintain a heterogeneous population in the face of another property tax increase? It would be one thing for the Borough to give $435,000 a year to some depressed area. But for us to give it to a more affluent community like the Township really hurts."

Mayor Cawley cited these same arguments and then pointed out that the proposed bill as it now stands would negate a legal agreement made between two municipalities by the referendum process. "It seems to me to be an unwarranted intrusion by the state into the internal affairs of local government."

cause any terrible discontent among either tenants or landlords," the mayor said, "although that may prove to be a naive statement depending on what happens at the meeting on Thursday."

Principal recommendation of the Rent Leveling Board was that a major change be made in the method of passing the costs of capital improvements on to the tenants. The existing rent leveling ordinance allowed landlords to increase rents by percentages comparable to the increases in the consumer price index for this region, but it allowed very little increase for capital improvement.

"It gave no incentive to a landlord to try to improve his property," said the mayor. The proposed ordinance would allow the landlord to increase

I guess every shopowner has a favorite customer. Some love the big spenders, others love the one who can bring in the right kind of customer - but mine just has to be that darling little Elizabeth Mouse from Skillman. When she scampers into the shop, rests her cute little freckled nose on the counter, and says, "Hi, Dad, any jobs for me?", that really gets me. She's a great helper, of course I always have little treats for her which might have something to do with the visits. I'll bet by the time I add up all the treats, the special deals and other bargains she charms out of me, I could have hired J.C. Penny...but then I said she was my favorite.

Princeton Basketball

the presence of their strongest classmates on varsity teams outside the Ivy League. By the time the three-year fixtures at guard, Co-Captains Mickey Steuerer and Armond Hdl, graduate, backcourt ability to match the front line should be ready.

Paradoxically, the budgetary problems that are affecting scheduling policies at colleges throughout the country will work in favor of basketball at Princeton. Plans are being made to create a seven-team conference of New York and New Jersey colleges which would supplement the Ivy race for the Tigers. As current schedule commitments permit, rivalries of no real meaning to Jadwin fans such as those with Penn State, Davidson and Virginia will be replaced with games against St. John, Manhattan, Fordham and Seton Hall.

These four, plus Rutgers, Princeton and Columbia, are planning eventually to play each other annually, with the possibility that a majority of the games would take place in Jadwin and Madison Square Garden. Spectator interest and sportswriter coverage should be considerably greater than that for even the key Ivy games.

Staff Is Solid. If Carril has been strong as a coach since he came here (recognition as one of the best in the business has finally come his way), so have his assistants. The season had barely ended when Dartmouth tapped Gary Walters, the former Tiger guard who had worked with Carril for the past two seasons, to solve the problems that have been plaguing basketball at Hanover for more than a decade.

Bob Dukiet, who has molded good freshman teams here for three years, will move up to work with Carril at the varsity level and Tony Relvas, a 30-year old with strong credentials from Nazareth in the highly-competitive eastern Pennsylvania area, will become freshman coach. What he is stepping into in his first year at an Ivy college—a somewhat unlikely member of the nation's top 20 despite the records of Princeton and Penn—borders on the Utopian.

As the Tigers move toward the new season, the burden of proof will rest increasingly on them. Off their strong holdover material and a freshman team that twice defeated its counterparts at Penn, they will inevitably be selected to dethrone the Quakers as Ivy League champions. Because Penn has graduated Ron Haigler, who made the difference between the two teams during the last two years, the Tigers are the logical choice, but the psychological factor of beating an opponent which has won the title six years running will be a major hurdle.

Last December, it appeared that the Tigers would be in a strong position to replace Penn in 1975-76 because their starting lineup was expected to return intact. That, of course, was before Tim Van Blommestein began his astonishing senior year, one that was capped by his major contributions as a regular to the NIT championship and his being drafted by both the New York Knicks and the Utah Stars—a dual selection accorded only some threescore basketball-playing seniors in the U.S.

20 Victories Possible. Expectations are, however, that with Hill and Steuerer in the back court, and Pete Molloy to spell them; Lon Ramati sure to continue his improvement at center; and Barnes Hauptfuhrer and Mark Hartley at forward, plus a number of good sophomores, the Tigers will have another good shot at a 20-game season—one that would rank as the fourth for Carril in nine years as the Tigers' coach.

Jadwin's 7,500 seats have rarely been sold out since the picturesque field house was completed in 1968. Last winter, with the Tigers virtually out of the Ivy race in late January and a recession in force, games rarely drew 3,000, and the stands at either end of the court were never erected.

All that is likely to change next winter, as the Tigers open with four games they should win (Drexel, Navy, Lafayette, Villanova) and then move into a pair of major tournaments. The first, at Michigan, will involve the host team, Southern Illinois and Miami of Ohio; the second, at Maryland, the host team, Seton Hall and Alabama.

In January, Penn, St. John's and Rutgers are all scheduled to come to Jadwin, and so are the fans—particularly for the Rutgers game on the 31st. "The NIT Tournament is for losers," a Rutgers player said as his team went to the NCAA, and now there is a score to settle.

The Tigers go into the campaign with the major distinction of having the longest winning streak in the country, having taken their last 13 in a row. They finished the season ranked 12th in the nation—at one point in March having performed so impressively on their way to the NIT title that they moved up in the top 20 without actually playing a game.

There is, of course, one problem confronting a team that startles the country with four straight upsets and a major title, thus propelling itself to the 12th spot in the national rankings. Literally hundreds of teams are stretched out below it, but only 11 are above it.

Improvement by that measuring stick may border on the impossible.

RENT RELIEF SOUGHT
By PCH Village, Princeton Community Housing, sponsors of the low and middle income housing project on Bunn Road that appears to require a king's ransom in rent from many potential tenants, continues to be frustrated in its attempts to secure some sort of relief from the Camden area office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Tenants applying for apartments or townhouses in the nearly completed PCH Village are discovering that, instead of qualifying for reduced rents for low or middle income families, HUD guidelines specify that they are capable of paying the much higher market rent. A family of four, for example, making $10,151 a year would have to pay $408 a month to rent a three-bedroom apartment in PCH. That's a nice apartment but not exactly a castle.

PCH officials, joined by Township Mayor Jay Bleiman, are attempting to convince HUD that the levels of income qualifying a family for low or middle income status be raised by $3,000, a change which would enable the family above to rent that apartment for a more reasonable $250 a month.

"Terrible bureaucratic nonsense," sighed Marianne Rees, president of PCH. "I just don't know how to make Camden move, and until they make a yes or no decision on our request no other part of HUD will move."

Mrs. Rees went to Washington Wednesday and intended to talk to HUD officials then. But she has already been assured that they will not act until they receive a recommendation from Camden.

No Avail. Mayor Bleiman wrote a detailed letter to Patricia Hampton, the HUD area director in Camden, explaining the need for alterations in the guidelines. That was three weeks ago. He has yet to receive a response. Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick and Senator Harrison Williams have also written HUD on the behalf of PCH, but again to no avail.

An acting assistant director of HUD did respond to the mayor and said he would be happy to consider his request as soon as Camden made its decision.

A Vandal's Deed for the Day: Six-Family Vegetable Garden Ruined for the Summer When Sprayed with Strong Herbicide

Approximately two-thirds of the harvest of a 35-by-50 foot garden plot cultivated by six families on Spruce Street has been ruined by a vandal who sprayed a herbicide on the plants.

One of the victims, Daniel G. Harvey, 140 Spruce, estimated the damage to the six-family and one child's plot at $300. "Money's not the thing," said a saddened Mr. Harvey. "It's the idea that someone would go to that length to do that kind of mischief. It's kind of hard to believe."

"At first we didn't know what it was. We thought it might have been something washed down with the rain," recalled Mr. Harvey, as the owners viewed their devastated plots. Samples of six plants, he said, were taken to Charles Holmes, Mercer County Agricultural agent.

He immediately identified the damage as caused by a herbicide 2-F-D, a finding which was also confirmed by two plant experts from area nurseries. Acting like a hormone, 2-F-D causes rapid growth. So much so, said Mr. Harvey, that it causes plants to burn themselves out.

Most of the plantings of tomatoes, squash, cucumbers, melons, peppers and herbs were flattened. Those that survived grew now at grotesque angles. 'Arthritic' was the way Mr. Harvey described them.

It is very unlikely that the surviving plants will bear fruit, Mr. Holmes told Mr. Harvey. In addition, it will take about two weeks for the herbicide to break down in the soil—too late to start up again, said Mr. Harvey.

Those whose plants were not sprayed plan to share their harvest with the others, "at least we'll have something," said Mr. Harvey, who worked one of the bigger plots. He estimated that he lost about $100 in vegetables after taking out his expenses for seed, fertilizer and so on.

"Some had reached the point where they were just ready to produce," he said. "All that work involved..."

The vacant lot at the corner of Linden and Spruce where Spruce runs into the Quarry is owned by Pete Sannino. He gave the families permission in March, Mr. Harvey said, to cultivate it.

Although there was a chicken wire fence around the plots, Mr. Harvey said that it was very easy to get in. He said that he believes the gardens were sprayed sometime Friday night.

UNIVERSITY RATTLED

By HEW's Catch 22. For a while last week Princeton University appeared to be caught in the position of being damned if it did and damned if it didn't comply with the latest directive from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare concerning "affirmative action," the policy by which the government requires the recipients of federal funds to file progress reports and plans for the hiring and advancement of women and minority employees.

The directive, sent by HEW to almost 30 universities, including Princeton on June 12, said that the agency could not complete its compliance reviews in time for research projects being funded effective June 30. Consequently, the agency was asking the universities to conduct their own preliminary reviews.

For Princeton, which has a $1 million grant coming from the Energy Research and Development Agency and which already considered itself in compliance with affirmative action guidelines, the situation did not appear threatening.

Then came the Catch-22. HEW's letter further stated that, if an institution found itself not in compliance, it could enter into a conciliation agreement and still receive its federal grant.

But if a university deemed itself in compliance, as Princeton did, then it would have to be reviewed by HEW officials. But, again, the agency would not have time to make such a review before June 30 and a delay could be expected in funding.

YEDLIN CHALLENGED

By Residents' Group. For what must seem the umpteenth time to supporters and opponents of the project, arguments will once again be heard concerning the proposed and very nearly approved low income housing project being developed by the Princeton Housing Authority in conjunction with Benedict Yedlin.

Opponents of the project have filed a formal grievance letter with Township Committee, and have been granted a hearing on their appeal at the July 7 meeting in Township Hall. Three Township residents, all of whom live in the vicinity of the proposed 100-unit development, signed the letter. They are Robert J. Durant, 288 Mount Lucas Road; James Green, 688 Ewing Street; and William Brower, 628 Ewing Street.

Although declining to make a formal statement until the formal hearing, Col. Green said that "as many people oppose this project as ever before-- and possibly even more."

Unfortunately for the opponents, however, the Yedlin project has taken at least one giant step forward in recent weeks with the conditional approval of its site plan by the Princeton Regional Planning Board. Derailing of the housing project at this time would seem a slim possibility.

Mr. Yedlin said Monday that his firm was "in the process of making certain changes in and additions to the site plan" to make it conform to the planners' requirements. "Probably in another week or so we should be ready to meet with the Environmental Design Review Committee and that should be it with the municipal agencies," he said.

Meeting with HUD. The developers are also preparing for their meeting with officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to determine a new total price for the project. Financing for the project would come from HUD, which would enable the Princeton Housing Authority to purchase the completed development from Mr. Yedlin and then operate it for the Township.

That meeting, Mr. Yedlin said, should be scheduled within about three weeks.

Township Mayor Jay Bleiman said that Committee, after hearing the appeal of the residents, could vote to uphold the Planning Board's decision; or to over-rule the Planning Board; or to send the case back to the Planning Board and ask it to reconsider the project on the basis of any new evidence submitted by the residents presenting the appeal.

The mayor recalled a similar appeal of a Planning Board decision in 1971. Committee upheld the board in that case.

Heat Still On. Outgoing University Provost Sheldon Hackney dashed off a letter of protest to HEW, citing, among other things, the Catch-22 nature of the original request. But then the heat was off—the grant from ERDA was delayed anyhow until September 30.

The University, though, still felt some pressure. When asked to release the correspondence, both Provost Hackney and Presidential assistant Robert Durkee balked, even though the letter from HEW had been printed in Washington newspapers. The University apparently did not want to further strain its relations with HEW on the sensitive issue of affirmative action.

CORVETTE DEMOLISHED. Driver Seriously Injured. The Township's third serious accident in as many weeks took place at 1:42 Friday morning in front of 178 Mountain Avenue.

A 1969 Corvette was totally demolished when it left the roadway, travelled 231 feet and rammed a utility pole. The driver, Peter G. Esser, 25, Aunt Molly Road, Hopewell, was half-thrown from the car by the impact.

He had stopped breathing, police said, when off-duty patrolman Harry Morton came across the accident and administered first aid until the Princeton First Aid Squad arrived. Mr. Esser was taken to Princeton Medical Center and admitted to the intensive care unit where he remains this week for treatment of facial and internal injuries.

"We haven't been able to talk to him; we don't know what happened," said Sgt. Anthony Nini, Township traffic safety officer. "Mountain Avenue is a straight road," he commented.

"He was lucky Ptl. Morton happened to come by," said Sgt. Nini. Mr. Esser was alone in the car.

Ptl. John Hammond investigated the accident.

Intersection Crash. Two cars collided Friday afternoon at the intersection of the Great Road and Stuart Road, bringing injury to the driver of a small foreign car.

Loretta E. Heiozel, 18, Drakes Corner Road, sustained lacerations of the head. Her car was hit broadside when another, operated by Jean F. Chase, 70, of Jamesburg, traveling on Stuart, allegedly failed to stop for the Great Road stop sign. Mrs. Chase, who was not injured, was issued a stop-sign summons by Ptl. Renn Kaminski.

In another accident on The Great Road some 250 feet from Stuart Road, a teenage driver and one of her three passengers were injured at 10:50 p.m. Wednesday, June 18, when her car left the road and went partially down a storm drain.

Christine H. Benda, 18, of Belle Mead, the driver, and James Messineo, 19, both suffered lacerations of the face. Not injured were Craig Krugman, 17, and Tom Andrus, 18.

According to the investigation by Ptl. David Wilbur, the tires on one side left the road, causing the car to partially enter the storm drain and come to rest on a storm drain pipe. He made no charges.

WINDSHIELD SHATTERED

By Falling Tree Limb. Last Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Carol J. Ackerman, 1012 Princeton-Kingston Road, was driving down Markham Road after just leaving a bank drive-in across Nassau Street when the unexpected struck.

A large tree limb came crashing down, shattering her windshield, covering her with pieces of glass and denting a fender and the hood of her car. She was not injured.

"I didn't see any signs or barricades. I was just driving down the street when..." Mrs. Ackerman told police. Ptl. William Hunter investigated and confirmed that no barriers, warning signs or flagman were present while some Borough trees were being trimmed that day. The limb was not tied with a rope, he noted in his report. There were no police charges.

According to the police

A Short 30 Days

My favorite month
is always June.
So long in coming
it ends too soon

Shortly before it ends the first half of the year, June has two unusual statistics to its credit: with better than seven inches of rain, it has been one of the wettest on record, with a few days still to go, its mean temperature is below average.

There is a possibility that the thermometer's excursion into the 90's on Tuesday will help June finish with temperature readings above average for its 30 days. A slightly cooler trend was forecast, however, with the skies expected to remain generally fair, and nothing more than a passing shower likely through the weekend.

report, the tree trimming had been contracted by the Borough to Tree-co Tree Service. Tree-co, in turn, had subcontracted the job to Robert Wells, 200 Grover Avenue.

In the tree at the time was William W. Cook of 189 Harrison Street. He told police he was back cutting the limb. "I looked both ways up and down the street. I saw no one coming so I made the cut. Then I saw her come whipping down the street. She was flying."

After the incident, Mrs. Ackerman, police said, saw Mr. Cook up the tree and asked him to come down. Mr. Wells came over and said that he would take care of it, that he was in charge. "The man in the tree just kept cutting branches," Mrs. Ackerman said.

a utility pole, leaving 59 feet of scuff marks by the two front tires.

He was taken to police headquarters, given a Breathalyzer test and subsequently charged by Ptl. James Agins.

Just a few minutes before the 7:17 mishap, Mr. Burnett had been involved in an altercation with another driver on Hamilton Avenue. The driver, a Kingston woman, has signed complaints charging him with careless driving, obstructing passage and assault.

Police said that the woman's first encounter with the Burnett car occurred on the Princeton-Kingston Road when she noticed his car weaving and swaying behind her. Fearful for her safety, she pulled over to the right to allow the Burnett car to pass. Police said she made a hand sign as the car passed and then turned down Snowden Lane.

According to police, the Burnett car then turned down Harriet Drive and gave chase. The two cars stopped on Hamilton Avenue near Harrison. The drivers began arguing and when Mr. Burnett allegedly attempted to pull open the left door of the woman's car in a threatening manner, she managed to drive off.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

For Reading Program at Skillman. The Training School for Boys in Skillman is recruiting volunteers age 17 and up for its summer reading program which will be held for six weeks, July 9 through August 14, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings. An orientation and pre-service instructional session will be given Monday, July 8, 9 to noon.

Each volunteer will be assigned to two boys and will work one hour with each boy teaching basic reading skills and will in turn receive in depth instruction and guidance in how to teach for the third hour. The only requirement is an interest in boys.

Mr. Anthony Sarlo, program director at the school, suggests that young people who are considering teaching as a possible career might be interested in the program because it provides the volunteer with the opportunity to become involved in a rewarding relationship with boys who need a friend and at the same time provides training and insight into the teaching of reading.

PROF. GODEL HONORED
By President Ford. Kurt Godel, of 145 Linden Lane, was one of eight winners of the National Medal of Science awarded Monday by President Ford. The medal is the federal government's highest citation of achievement in science and engineering development. Dr. Godel, professor of mathematics and philosophy at the Institute for Advanced Study since 1953, is considered one of the world's foremost mathematicians. He was scheduled to receive an honorary degree this month from Princeton University, but was unable to attend commencement ceremonies because of illness. In announcing the awards, President Ford said "an examination of the winners' accomplishments demonstrates the importance of science and engineering to the nation."

ACCREDITATION GIVEN
To Medical Center Blood Bank. The Medical Center at Princeton has been accredited by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB) for another two-year period. First accredited under the AABB's Inspection and Accreditation Program in 1968, The Medical Center's new accreditation certifies that the level of technical and administrative performance within their blood bank or transfusion service continues to meet the standards established by the AABB.

Dr. Herbert F. Polesky, president of the AABB, congratulated The Medical Center's governing board and staff, adding, "This recognition by the AABB is assurance of continued interest in providing the highest quality medical care to the patients you serve." The purpose of the AABB's voluntary Inspection and Accreditation Program is to elevate the standards of practice within the transfusion service and provide a consultation service to assure patients of increased safety in human blood transfusion. Accreditation is based on the results obtained from a comprehensive physical inspection by one of the AABB's trained inspectors.

The Medical Center is one of more than 1,700 blood banks in the United States which have been accredited through this program.

Poll Shows Women Receive Increasing Backing As Candidates for Political Office in New Jersey

The prospects of women political candidates in New Jersey are good and getting better, according to the New Jersey Poll. The latest Poll, conducted by the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University, shows that most voting-age New Jerseyans say they could support a well-qualified woman who was running for political office.

The table below shows for each office the actual percentages who would support a woman candidate.

"Would you vote for a well-qualified woman candidate who was running for...."

	May '75	Feb. '74
Local office	94%	91%
State Legislature	93	91
U.S. Congress	92	90
Governor	87	82
President	70	63

Comparing these questions with those asked in February 1974 shows an increasing acceptance of women candidates at all levels of government. "These figures show that out of every three people who would not have supported a woman for office last year, one of them has swung to the other side," noted Stephen Chilton, Associate Director of the New Jersey Poll. "And these changes have occurred in only a little over one year," he added.

Would New Jerseyans vote for a woman if she ran against an equally qualified man for Congress? The most often cited opinion, mentioned by 41 percent of the respondents, is that the candidate's sex doesn't make a difference one way or another to them. However, one-third (33 percent) feel that they would be more inclined to vote for the man, while one-fifth (19 percent) say they would prefer the woman.

Although men and women are equally willing to "consider" a woman candidate, when faced with a head-to-head contest between the sexes, men and women would view the election differently.

	Men	Women
Local office	93%	94%
State Legislature	93	93
U.S. Congress	91	93
Governor	87	87
President	69	70

Almost half the men (45 percent) say that the candidate's sex would make no difference to them, while only about a third (36 percent) of the women say this. But among people choosing one candidate or the other, both men and women would vote for the man over the woman. Men prefer the male candidate by a 35-11 percent margin, while women pick the man over the woman by a 31-26 percent margin.

"New Jersey has sent only four women to Congress over the last 55 years," said Ruth Mandel, Director of Eagleton's Center for the American Woman and Politics. "In 1975 when 41 percent of the electorate will vote for a good person regardless of sex, and when 19 percent of the electorate actually prefers a woman candidate, women all over the state should be encouraged to step forward and seek nominations."

Democrats, liberals, respondents under 50 and college-educated respondents are most likely to indicate support for women candidates, while Republicans, conservatives, respondents over 50 and those without a high-school diploma show the least support.

The Sixteenth New Jersey Poll was conducted by telephone from the Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. between May 5 and 11. A scientifically selected random sample of 1005 N.J. residents 18 years of age or over was interviewed.

Power Failures Hit

Power was out in the eastern section of Princeton Saturday morning as a result of broken wires on Harrison Street near Carnegie Lake.

Affected were traffic signals in the area, and police report receiving a number of calls shortly after 7 in the morning. Power was restored by 8 a.m.

Borough police also report a power failure at 9:01 Sunday morning in the Jefferson Road area. They attributed the cause to a defective cable on Franklin Avenue.

IN FIREMEN'S PARADE FRIDAY: The Princeton Hook & Ladder Company's $90,000 Aerialscope will be one of the pieces of equipment on view in the annual Princeton Fire Department parade and inspection which will be held Friday evening, starting at 6:45 from Chestnut Street. Chief George B. Rollings Jr. will lead the volunteer fire department, established in 1788, up Nassau Street to Borough Hall.

Thousands Brush Death at 'Jaws,' All Return Home to Tell About It

No doubt about it, Peter Benchley has come a long ways. A few years ago, a trip to the movies for the Benchleys would mean piling into the family Audi and driving in to town from their small framehouse in Pennington.

This past Friday, the Benchleys caught another flick at the Garden. This time a black Cadillac limousine came by their home at 35 Boudinot Street and picked up not only the Benchleys but also Governor and Mrs. Byrne and former Governor and Mrs. Cahill.

The occasion, of course, was the premier showing of the movie adopted from Mr. Benchley's best-selling novel, "Jaws," a premier that was being shown simultaneously in 1,000 theaters across the country, to the accompaniment of rave reviews and long box-office lines.

"Jaws," the movie, in short, appears to be another tidal wave of good fortune for Mr. Benchley, who just two years ago was another struggling young writer—although the son and grandson of two famous writers—with a vague idea of a novel swimming around in his head.

In fact, the movie appears likely to be even more of a success than the book. Critics who were lukewarm or ice cold toward the book have taken a completely different view of the movie. Time Magazine, for example, called the novel "Moby Dick in a bathtub." The movie version was recently hyped on the magazine's cover.

The movie has also proved to be somewhat of a bonanza for the Princeton-based Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation. Founded by Princeton investment counselor Gordon Gund, himself blinded by the disease, the Foundation held two benefit showings of the movie on Friday night.

Screams and Yells. More than 500 persons paid $35 a couple to see the first showing of "Jaws," complete with an introduction by Mr. Benchley, and then dance and party afterward with the author at Cloister Inn. Another more than $6,000 in profits toward the continuing research efforts of the RP Foundation.

Mr. Gund has known Mr. Benchley since their freshman year at Harvard, Class of 1961, and the author discussed the movie with him before it was shown. "He told me the line of dialogue that would immediately precede the first appearance of the shark. It was incredible to anticipate and then hear the reaction of the audience," said Mr. Gund. "There were a lot of screams and yells during the entire movie. I'll tell you that," he said.

In addition to some satisfied—if somewhat frightened—moviegoers, Mr. Gund hopes the audiences at the Garden premier also included some new friends of the RP Foundation.

Founded just three years ago by Mr. Gund and a man from Baltimore, the foundition now has a research institute based at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary and has funded several fellowships for research into the nature of the disease. The foundation is also developing a center to study animals which contract similar forms of retinal degeneration.

Terrifying Disease. Because the disease strikes gradually and without warning, it is often a terrifying experience for its victims. One of the other aims of Mr. Gund's organization is to provide a forum for those afflicted to share ideas. "We now have more than 500 families in New Jersey that we are working with," said Mr. Gund. "It's amazing how many people just want to call up and rap about it."

For the moment in Princeton, those who have seen "Jaws" are probably still getting over that fictional terror. The movie appears to be living up to its billings.

Officials at the Garden said that the two evening shows Saturday and Sunday were nearly entirely sold out, with perhaps 10 vacant seats for each performance. More than 4,000 persons in all were estimated to have seen the movie Saturday and Sunday and long lines formed before the showings.

CAST ANNOUNCED
For "Play It Again, Sam." Street Theatre has cast John Wible in the role of Allen Felix, the central character of Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam," scheduled for July 16-20 and 24-26. Allen's friend Humphrey Bogart will be played by Joe Bolster; Dick will be portrayed by Geoff Becker.

Annette Cascone will portray Linda. Diane Bouffard and Jill Kendall carry supporting roles as Nancy and Sharon. Also in the cast are Ali Henderson, Lori Golomb, Pam Keelsrud and Monica Hauser.

Street Theatre members welcome anyone seventh grade and up. A vocal technique workshop will be taught by Bruce Turner, a graduate of Westminster Choir College and a professional voice teacher. There are spaces open for this workshop of 15 participants who will learn about projection and use and control of the voice.

'DAD' OPENS JULY 3

Intime Films Continue. Another busy summer season for Princeton University's Theatre Intime moves into full swing next week.

The first production of the Summer Intime Drama Series, Arthur Kopit's "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad," will open Thursday, July 3. The Summer Intime Film Series begins its second week with three more vintage films, beginning Monday. And the Summer Intime Midnight Cabaret will open Saturday, July 5. What more could you ask for?

Well, Intime also will open its Children's Workshop this Saturday, from 10 to noon. Children ages 8 to 12 may still be registered for the eight-week program of instruction in basic theater techniques by calling 452-8181. The fee is $50.

Kopit's production will run July 3-6 and July 10-13 in Murray Theatre on the University campus. Georgine Freedman, known for her performances in PJ & B musicals and SI's production of "Billy Liar," portrays the dominating mother, Madame Rosepettle, whose travels lead her all over the world in search of people to destroy. Her victim in Havana, the suave Commodore Roseabove, will be played by Herbert McAneny, a veteran actor with the Princeton Community Players.

Eric Zwemer plays Jonathan, the sheltered son, and Kimberly Myers, Summer Intime's general manager, takes on the role of the girl who tries in vain to thwart the dangerous Mme. Rosepettle.

Destructive Love. Peter Schifter, a recent graduate of the Yale Drama School, will direct this comedy. "It's all about people who need love and how destructive that love can be," said Mr. Schifter, "yet Kopit's script has all the humor of pure classic farce."

Tickets are on sale at the Summer Intime box office, open Monday through Saturday from 10 to 8, and Sundays from 1 to 7. Call 452-8181 for reservations or information.

Grant dash madly through this light tale of a dizzy socialite and a put-upon paleontologist. On Tuesday Si offers Jean Renoir's masterpiece, "Le Grand Illusion," a 1937 anti-war film starring Pierre Fresnay and Jean Gadril.

Wednesday's film will be "The Caine Mutiny," starring Humphrey Bogart, Jose Ferrer, Van Johnson, and Fred MacMurray. All films begin at 7:30 in the McCormick Art Museum. Admission is $1.25.

All-American Cabaret. The Midnight Cabaret opens Saturday, July 5, in the lower room, adjacent to Murray Theatre. The first evening will feature an "All-American Composers Night" with the songs of Irving Berlin, George and Ira Gershwin, Cole Porter, Stephen Sondheim, and others.

Performers will include Intime company members Eric Zwemer, Joseph Harrison, and Jim Shankman, as well as D'Arcy Achziger, Joan Gallos, Ellen Eifrig, Bob Cohen, and Denise Seutter.

Tickets are $2, and a discount is offered to those who attend the drama presentation at Summer Intime. Refreshments will be sold.

DIXIELAND THURSDAY

In Concert at Shopping Center. "Summer Sounds," a series of eight free musical evenings in various outdoor settings continues Thursday at 7:30 with the second of the series, Arnold Roth's Dixieland Jazz Band, performing in the Shopping Center Mall. The concert will take place shine or rain, under cover, and the audience is advised to bring a blanket, camp chair or umbrella.

Other Summer Sounds concerts are scheduled on Thursdays at 7:30 as follows: July 10, Steve Redfield's Big Band, Battlefield Park, Mercer Road; July 17, The Jam Masters, Contemporary Music, Pardee Field; July 24, Princeton Folk Music Society, Westminster Choir College Quad.

August 7, United Voices of Princeton, Nassau Hall green, University Campus; August 21, Sweet Adelines and Barbershop Quartets, Princeton High School; and August 28, Blue Grass Jam Session at Pardee Field.

CONCERT THURSDAY

On Seminary Campus. An evening of music will be offered Princeton area residents when Mary Ann Williams, Sharon W. McMichael and Mary H. Sweazey combine their talents in a concert sponsored by the Summer Language Program at Princeton Theological Seminary. The performance is scheduled for 8 on this Thursday in the Seminary's Miller Chapel.

The musicians will be introduced by the Rev. Dr. Cullen I. K. Story, Director of the Summer Language Program and Assistant Professor of New Testament. A reception in the main lounge of the Campus Center will follow.

Ms. Williams, a soprano, has selected songs by Purcell, Schuetz and Dvorak. A native of Middletown, Ohio, she is an honor graduate of The College of Wooster, where she majored in speech. During her college years she was a member of the touring choir, the handbell choir and, as a piper, the Scot Marching Band. She has maintained her interest in the bagpipes at Princeton Seminary, where she will enter the senior class of the Master of Divinity program next fall.

Ms. McMichael, a flautist, has chosen C.P.E. Bach, Roussel and Valclav Nelhybel works. While attending Ohio State University, from which she received a bachelor's degree in Music Education, Ms. McMichael was solo flautist with the university's Concert Band.

Both performers will be accompanied by Ms. Sweazey at the piano.

TRYOUTS SET

For "Stop The World." Theatre-By-The-Lake on the Peddie School campus announces tryouts for Anthony Newley's musical, "Stop The World, I Want To Get Off," Monday at 7 p.m. in Geiger-Reeves Hall. Call 443-4544 any night before tryouts if other arrangements are necessary.

The show requires a small cast of actors who can sing, move well and perform mime. Men trying out for the role of Littlechap should bring a prepared song, preferably one from the show, such as "Once in a Lifetime" and "Gonna Build a Mountain." Women trying out for the role of Evie should be able to do English, German, and Russian accents and know songs from the show, "Typically English" and "Glorious Russian," for instance.

There is also a small girls' chorus of seven singers.

IT'S NEW To Us

NOW IN KINGSTON

The Cricket Cage. Tired of commuting from New Brunswick to Hopewell, last February Patricia Tarman bought a home on Kingston's Main Street and combined her business and private life under one roof.

Business for her is The Cricket Cage, a delightful store specializing in hand-made doll houses and furniture, hand-crafted gifts and imported casual clothes. While it remains basically the same as it was in Hopewell, Mrs. Tarman could not resist utilizing the greenhouse right off the main room, and thus a plant section has been added.

Because the greenhouse has a southern exposure, it has been filled with sun lovers, from small lovely coral geraniums to large hanging baskets filled with petunias, $1.50 to $8.95. Happily the greenhouse is heated so the plants will be there year-round.

The selection of doll houses is incredible, ranging from a six-room unfinished one at $50 to an eight-room fully decorated house with two staircases and electricity at $235. Priced in between are several alternatives, such as a crisp six-room white house with blue shutters, a small balcony, wall-to-wall carpeting and papered walls, $75. It is currently home for a large grey cat, but undoubtedly a small doll family would find it just as com-

All Houses Furnished. Mrs. Tarman's daughters have carefully furnished all the houses with scaled furniture and miniatures, and we were particularly enchanted by their most recent interior design work - a converted red barn with a huge upstairs bedroom and a stall for the kitchen, living room and dining room. This wooden barn, priced at $55, would also be perfect for a small boy's many horses and tractors.

Some of the furniture, made by a retired tool and die maker from Michigan, is most elaborate with beautifully carved posts and rungs. Because of the detail, the smaller pieces are particularly difficult and so a child's rocker costs $13 while a while a larger version is $7. A double bed complete with a patchwork cover is $25 and a corner cabinet, $14.

There is also less expensive furniture such as a floral upholstered loveseat, $5.50, and a small white baby cradle, $2. In addition we saw many miniatures, some of them museum reproductions of pewter mugs or Staffordshire dogs and others just perfect for the country store scenes that have become so popular.

The most delightful miniatures are tiny baskets of flowers made from bread dough. You can choose a single rose in a bud vase, a pot of African violets or a basket of forget-me-nots, from $1.50. They are all hand made and Mrs. Tarman hopes to shortly have enough for a miniature flower shop.

It's amazing how many hand crafts just walk into a shop such as the Cricket Cage and one of the newest entries is an enchanting Peddler doll. Made by a woman from Easton, Pa., who carefully researched English peddler women, this authentic doll with a hand-painted wooden face, white cap, red blouse and black cape carries a tray filled with bread, beads, rolling pins, fabric, knitting worsted, fabric and much more.

Mrs. Tarman, constantly on the lookout for original ideas, particularly likes a blue denim tote bag that converts to a knapsack by changing the straps. It comes with a two-letter monogram, red gingham lining and a large outside pocket, $20.

Other handmade gifts include golden bread dough baskets, handsome wooden rolling pins and wine racks, wine jellies and jars of pot-pourri which Mrs. Tarman makes herself.

It only takes a quick look around the store to realize that Mrs. Tarman likes the hand-crafted country look of patchwork, gingham and calico. All these fabrics are often found in quilts and we noticed several old and modern ones, including the Pennsylvania Dutch Sun Bonnet babies or an original design called Chickies.

Teenage twin girls who wish to tryout for Littlechap's daughters would be especially welcome.

A musical which brought Anthony Newley fame, "Stop the World" also features the song, "What Kind of Fool Am I." It deals with the seven stages of man and is performed entirely through song and mime. Rehearsals will be in the evenings, Sunday through Friday, for August 7, 8 and 9 performance dates.

Directors will be Amy Brockway and Thomas Cardea.

GARDEN

Jaws. If you are one of the few who hasn't read Peter Benchley's best-selling book "Jaws," you are making a mistake if you think you can fill in the gap by seeing the movie which began a long-run at the Garden last week.

The sex in the novel has been eliminated. So has most of the gore. What has been effectively retained is the story of a shark that kills one swimmer and terrorizes a Long Island beach resort community and the men committed to finding and destroying the big fish.

Despite the reworking of the novel by Hollywood, author Peter Benchley, a Princeton resident, reports that he likes what the moviemakers have done with his book. So, too, will most of those who see the film.

The suspense between the meeting of the shark and those committed to killing it builds to an almost unbearable degree. And director Steven Spielberg receives fine performances from the three main male characters in the film.

Roy Scheider is Brody, the police chief of the community, who bears the burden of responsibility for protecting the people; Richard Dreyfuss is a young shark expert who joins in the search for the shark; and Robert Shaw is a veteran shark fighter who has a fatal confrontation with the shark.

After a suspenseful buildup, none can match the real star, however.

None can match the real star, however. After a suspenseful buildup, when the shark finally strikes the 4th of July bathers, the heart-stopping terror is real.

To portray the killer, the studio constructed three mechanical models operated by compressed air and used actual footage from underwater shots of the great white shark. In sum, though redone, the movie is just as good as the book.

PRINCE

Tommy. The Who's 1969 best-selling rock opera about the spiritual odyssey of an abused child has been transferred to the film in "Tommy" with relentless energy and unbounded imagination.

Director Ken Russell's visualization of the best-selling record album (which was later done in concert and even ended up as ballet in Canada) is on an epic scale of exaggeration—encompassing everything from lust, human cruelty, and the Second World War to Hollywood idolatry, LSD and the search for a new Messiah. The visual effects are mindboggling; the sound track (every word is sung) is excellent, though at unrelentingly high pitch and volume, and the cast of pop culture figures more than enough to guarantee a pilgrimage by the young to the box office. Among them, Tina Turner, Elton John and The Who themselves.

A fine cast is headed by Ann-Margaret, pulling out all the stops as Tommy's mother; Oliver Reed, Roger Daltrey of The Who as Tommy and Jack Nicholson.

Born on the last day of World War II, Tommy never knows his father who is presumed lost in action but returns home to find his wife married to brutish Oliver Reed. Waking in the dead of night, the little boy witnesses Reed murder his father and is immediately struck deaf, dumb and blind.

The philosophy behind "Tommy" is shaky but technically superb on every front. Elton John's rendition of "The Pinball Wizard" (Tommy's one passion is pinball) is a knockout.

The Exorcist broke attendance records when it was first released and William Blatty's best-selling novel about the Satanic possession of a 12-year old girl and the exorcism that ultimately frees her takes graphic form on the screen. This is not for the faint-of-heart.

Outstanding performances by Linda Blair as the tormented girl and Ellen Burstyn as her divorced mother.

PILLOWS BY NADINE
At Classics Limited. When certain fabrics were discontinued, Nancy Mayers of Classics Limited was left wondering what to do with the large sample pieces. Rather than just toss them out, she suggested that Nadine Berkowsky make some accent pillows with them, and soon the showroom was featuring "Pillows by Nadine."

Her designs proved to be so popular that this Spring, the two young women converted a storage part of the store into the Pillow House specializing in creative pillows, wallhangings and quilts.

If you visited the Junior League's Showcase House this Spring, you probably remember some of her work from the third-floor refectory. Here there was a large white pillow couch filled with pastel pillows in abstract designs.

The furniture which sits on a wooden base can be made in any size, from one square that serves as a chair to a wall-to-wall unit. Covered in a glosheen fabric (and there is a rainbow of colors to choose from), the seat unit is $43 and the back $32. Each wooden square is $75, but the price decreases proportionately as the unit gets longer. Also you can buy the pillow forms themselves and then use any fabric you wish.

The pillow range is great. We saw one in a nubbly fabric of natural stripes; another of green and navy fabric woven like wide ribbons; and a third in a dark abstract velvet pattern where Nadine has quilted some of the shapes.

We particularly liked a purple pillow with an appliqued and embroidered tree. It has coral leaves and a green and pink bird sitting on the branches. The pillows range from approximately $20 to $40, and any design can be ordered in any fabric or colors.

Nadine, who is a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design and a past designer for Lenox China, likes to experiment and particularly enjoys making wallhangings as "they are really creative."

Our favorite has a handsome multi-colored butterfly appliqued on a soft green background, $40. There are also several for children such as a bright yellow caterpillar, a fuzzy white cat sitting on a fence or a ABC one made of appliqued letters and many pink and white patches, $12 to $65.

She has also started to make quilts and the sample is outstanding. Using the pastel glosheen fabrics, she has appliqued and quilted a landscape scene that includes a road, small house, hills and rainbow. This particular one which makes a perfect laprobe costs $185, but as with all her designs you can order any size and colors or even change the design.

Princeton Seniors Apologize.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The "visual and aerial display" planned to celebrate the arrival of graduation day for Princeton University Class of 1975, and to entertain the 6,000 people--students, families and friends--in attendance at this year's Senior Class Party, turned out to be noisier than we anticipated.

We regret the inconvenience caused many citizens, including municipal officials, by the audio dimension of the fireworks at Palmer Stadium on that Tuesday morning. The misunderstanding was between us and the fireworks company hired by the Senior Class. Township officials were concerned about the general public, as were we, at the time of reviewing our application. They were given reason to expect aerial displays of a more sedate nature than actually occurred.

We wish to apologize for not living up to the understanding, as expected, by them and by us.

WILLIAM H. PFUND

LESLIE L. VIVIAN JR.

Seniors' Fireworks Defended.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am either amazed or disgusted—I find it hard to decide which—at the stuffed shirts and old nannies among my townsmen and, indeed, among my friends.

Have they so lost their sense of the joy of life and living that they must carry on like affronted old maids because a bunch of seniors, about to graduate, woke some of us up with fireworks at the midnight between Class Day and Commencement?

If they don't like the quite harmless high jinks that younger and fuller blooded citizens engage in periodically, and especially in the spring when classes and theses and exams are done with, they should have had better sense than to settle in a college town.

ORC Objects—"Strenuously."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the last issue of TOWN TOPICS a rather slanderous letter was printed accusing Opinion Research Corporation of, among other things, being a "subtle monster" for allegedly conducting a biased survey. I would like to comment on the charges.

The survey in question, conducted for the Business Roundtable, dealt with public attitudes on the role of government in consumer affairs. In all, 19 questions were asked of a national probability sample of 2,038 adults age 18 and over, including several questions relating to the proposed new consumer protection agency. Because the survey revealed a large majority of the American public do not support the proposed new consumer protection agency, certain elected officials and others who support such an agency have attacked the survey with a charge of bias. While this is unfortunate, as well as unfounded, it is not an unpredictable mode of human behavior.

The totality of the survey results are most favorable with respect to government participation in the area of consumer protection. The survey demonstrates that a majority of the public is aware of the Office of Consumer Affairs, the Consumer Product Safety Commission, and the Environmental Protection Agency. Among those people who are aware of these federal government agencies, the majority believe them to be effective. There is no consolation for business in these results insofar as the public feeling that government should not involve itself in consumer protection; quite the contrary.

However, when presented with the reality of a proposed additional agency that would sit on top of the existing agencies, the public opts for making existing agencies more effective rather than creating a "super agency." I submit that this is an understandable and rational point of view. This is the point of view of the majority of the American public, even though the mail of a particular Senator may run in the other direction. Those very, very few people who take the time and trouble to write to a Senator are not representative of even his constituency, let alone the public as a whole.

Opinion Research Corporation believes that the survey, now a part of the public record in its entirety, was conducted under the most modern and professional research procedures all the way from the testing of the questions asked through the analysis of the final results. It is our judgment that the survey represents accurately, at the time it was conducted, the thinking of people across the country on the issues raised. We object strenuously to charges of bias and to the companion charge that we set out to produce a desired result.

HARRY W. O'NEILL
Executive Vice-President
Opinion Research Corporation

Praise and Thanks Extended.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In case you missed Princeton High School's announcement, grants and awards from local organizations to the PHS Class of 1975 totaled more than $32,000! Members of this community deserve much praise for their interest in the future of our young people.

The Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation is one of the local organizations administering educational grants. This year our grants totaled $8,000. Since our ability to assist young people depends upon wide support, it is impossible to name everyone who has helped. Nevertheless, the Foundation wishes to thank everyone for a successful year: PHS students who raised $2,500 for Student-to-Student Grants; the PHS-PTO for the proceeds of its magazine drive and subscriptions; all the Princeton Regional PTOs which generously contributed $1,000 to create PTO Council Educational Grants; donors to the Jessica S. Bartlett Memorial Fund and the Leon Allison Memorial Fund; the American Legion Auxiliary, Post 76; TOWN TOPICS for providing needed publicity; the merchants, companies, and individuals whose contributions in a difficult economic year made our grants possible; and, finally, the numerous volunteers who worked selflessly.

Because of you, 18 PHS seniors will be able to continue their education or training. On behalf of the grant recipients, we thank you all!

Furthermore, the mayor said, landlords who do their own improvements will be entitled to ask for a determination of the fair market value of the improvement and use that as the basis of the rent increase request. Previously the landlord could pass along only a portion of his out-of-pocket costs for materials.

Also, under the ordinance now expiring, landlords seeking relief from hardships were allowed to raise rents only to the point where their incomes balanced expenses. "Now they will be allowed some reasonable return on investment," Mr. Cawley said.

The proposed, new ordinance also would increase the rent leveling board from its current size of five members to seven, including two tenants, two landlords, and three citizens who are neither tenants nor landlords.

This ordinance also proposes annual reporting of rents to the rent board and a modification of the way in which the consumer price index is used to determine allowable rent increases. Another recommendation of the proposed ordinance is that the tax increase surcharge now allowed landlords be dropped. "The board felt that it was trivial in magnitude and already covered in the consumer price index calculations," said the Mayor.

Police Negotiations. Mayor Cawley also reported that talks are still underway with the policemen, who are bargaining for increased wages and fringe benefits in their new contract. "Negotiations so far have gone a little better than last year," said Mr. Cawley, bringing to mind the scene of frustrated policemen picketing Borough Hall.

The mayor said that a raise of more than five percent had been offered the policemen but was not accepted by them. "We also haven't agreed on some major things they are asking for in fringe benefits."

Mr. Tchorni, acting vice president for that area for the past several months, succeeds E. Belvin Williams, who recently assumed responsibility for the programs and services which ETS conducts under contract with the College Board.

During his career, he served in the test development and test administration divisions. He also was director of the administrative services division and assistant to the vice president for administrative services.

EXPANSION SOUGHT

By Lahiere's Restaurant, Inc.

one of four applications to be heard Thursday night by the Borough Zoning Board in Borough Hall, Lahiere's Restaurant, Inc., 5-13 Witherspoon Street, will present proposed expansion plans that would add 62 to its presently authorized 184 seats.

The restaurant intends expanding into 13 Witherspoon, presently occupied by the Nassau Barber Shop; enclosing a 6 by 52-foot alley that stretches across half of the rear of the property with a one-story building and making some interior changes.

It is asking for a waiver of the 12-off street parking spaces that the expansion would require and floor-area and coverage variances for the rear addition. Attorney Bruce French is representing the restaurant in its application.

Reversal Sought. The 146 Dundas Corporation of 1200 Colonades Drive, Fort Pierce, Fla. will ask the board to reverse a determination by zoning officer Donald Harney that a proposed enlargement of the first floor of property at 363 Nassau Street can not be occupied as a retail store.

Owners of the property, an unfinished office building at the corner of Nassau and Markham Road, have been involved in court litigation with the Borough for a number of years.

Mr. Harney has ruled that the proposed retail enlargement would require a use variance from Mayor and Council. The property is located in a residential office zone.

The courts have determined that the original first floor may be used for retail, but attorney William C. Baggitt will inform the board that his client wishes to enlarge the original area that had a central core surrounded by plazas.

In another application the First National Bank of Princeton needs bulk variances and waiver of three off-street dwelling. The bank is trustee of the property under the will of Morris Kammerman.

The bank has a prospective buyer who wishes to make renovations. When the zoning board checked its records prior to issuing a permit it discovered the property had authorization only for one-family use. The property meets only one bulk requirement - height - for two-family use, and there is no area available to provide the off-street parking. W. Douglas Smith is representing the applicant.

Katherine Ness, 5 Overbrook Drive, needs a conditional use authorization to convert a single-family dwelling at 46 Wiggins Street to a multi-family dwelling of four units.

In 1972, the property was given conditional use authorization to convert to three units but the work was never done and the authorization has elapsed. The home is located in an R-4 zone.

The applicant needs a front yard and one side-yard variance but can supply the required off-street parking. Mrs. Ness has received favorable site plan review and a favorable recommendation from the Planning Board.

80TH PATENT AWARDED

To Princeton Jct. Man. Frank J. Fuchs, a research consultant in metal forming studies at Western Electric's Engineering Research Center near Princeton, has been awarded his 80th U.S. patent for an "Apparatus and Method for Continuous Material Feeding and Deformation." Mr. Fuchs, a mechanical engineering graduate from Duke University, lives at 9 University Way, Princeton Junction.

ARCHITECT HONORED

For Excellence in Design. Michael Graves, Princeton architect and member of the New Jersey Society of Architects, has been chosen as one of nine winners of the 1975

Honor Award of the American Institute of Architects, the nation's highest award for architectural excellence.

In this 27th annual presentation, Mr. Graves's award marks the first time a New Jersey architect has been so honored. A five-member jury selected the winners after reviewing more than 600 entries, some of which were chosen for on-site inspections before the judgments were completed.

The winning building, the Nanselmann Residence in Fort Wayne, Indiana, evoked the following comments from the jury:

"Within a minimal cube of space, an intensely varied living environment has been created, despite the limitations of an austere building budget. Enhancing and expanding the scale of the interior spaces is a galaxy of sensitively refined architectural elements. Porches, balconies, windows, doors, beams, columns, and staircases have been detailed with a distinctively elegant style and a consistent multi-leveled spatial interpretation. The manner in which these elements have been articulated offers fascinating richness and delight to a world weary of the pallid symbols of technology and mass production."

Mr. and Mrs. Jay B. Hanselmann acted as general contractors for their house, located in a heavily wooded but typical suburban residential setting. The 2900 square foot building was constructed for $55,000, indicating that excellence in design need not be prohibitively expensive.

Mr. Graves lives at 49 Markham Road maintains an office at 20 Nassau Street. He is Professor of Architecture at the School of Architecture and Urban Planning, Princeton University, and a consultant to the Mental Retardation Institute of the New York Medical College, Valhalla, N.Y.

News Of The CHURCHES

AREA CHURCHES MEET
On World Hunger. The Pennington Presbyterian Church hosted a Presbyterian Hunger meeting in which six member churches shared with each other the work they are doing in the area of world famine. It was recommended that no Presbyterian task force be set up to study the hunger problem, but rather that each church continue to carry out its own program and the Presbytery would serve as a vehicle to distribute information from one church to another.

The Nassau Presbyterian Church has had a several-pronged thrust at the problem of world hunger. Through the Hunger Committee of the Church and Society Committee, now renamed the Community Ministries Committee, the church has held a monthly Hunger Offering which has brought in around $500 each month.

Through the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and the Church World Service, the money has gone to a missionary family in Pakistan for immediate famine relief as well as long term work and self help projects which are paid for in money or grain. The family has written lengthy letters back to Nassau Church describing in detail how the funds are spent.

Nassau Church also held a Food Stamp Outreach Program on six consecutive Tuesdays for which 29 people (out of 50 requests) qualified for and were given food stamps. A legislative network of 47 parishioners keep alert to bills in the hopper locally and nationally that have to do with food distribution and allocation. In addition the church has held pot-luck meatless suppers and have shared recipes for alternative ways of cooking. The junior highs have begun a program of doing garden and house chores in return for a voluntary contribution which would be donated to the Hunger Fund.

The youth of the Blawenburg Reformed Church are asking people to bring in surplus garden vegetables and fruit, which the church will then sell and give the proceeds to CROP, the community hunger appeal of Church World Service. The Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church reported on its Christmas Card alternative plan, in which members could send out simple notices saying that a donation to the church's Hunger Fund had been made in lieu of purchasing commercial cards. The senior high group of the church have planted a large garden and will give the produce to the East Trenton Center.

Also attending the meeting were the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, Alexandria Presbyterian Church in Mount Pleasant, and the Presbyterian Church in Flemington. The Mount Pleasant Church is raising money to buy a windmill through CROP for an area that suffers from draught. A senior high group from the Flemington Church has a mobile health team, organized with a doctor, nurse and dentist through the church mission program, which travels to a specific depressed area -- last year an Ohio riverbottom community, this year upstate New York -- and holds health fairs.

SUMMER HOURS LISTED

By Christian Science Church. The Sunday School and services of First Church of Christ, Scientist, will be held during the summer months at 11 a.m. The church is located at 16 Bayard Lane.

"All the churches of our denomination continue their services and other regular activities the year round," Sunday School superintendent John Wagenseil explained. "Our Sunday School maintains classes for children and young people up to the age of 20 and visitors are welcome to attend."

Church services are also held throughout the summer at 11 a.m. and 8:15 p.m. on Sundays, with Wednesday testimony meetings each week at 8:15 p.m. The newly redecorated children's room for pre-Sunday School pupils is now open Wednesday evenings as well as Sunday mornings during services.

OLD STORE ON VIEW

At Historical Society. "The Country Store," counter, shelves, barrels and cash register, is the newest exhibit at the Historical Society of Princeton, 158 Nassau Street. Collected and staged by the student members of the Historical Society, the Country Store is open Tuesdays through Fridays from 10-4, and on Saturdays and Sundays from 2-4 until September.

Most of the necessities of life were available at the country store, including companionship around the pot-bellied stove. Here again have been collected sacks of grain, barrels of coffee, rice, beans and tins of tea. On the shelves are linens, bonnets, dyes and tints, chewing gums, tonics, biscuits, kitchen utensils and different kinds of oils such as peppermint and pistachio.

Known still today are some of the companies that produced the displayed commodities, such as Royal Baking Powder, Planter's Salted Peanuts, Bon Ami cleansing powder, Swifts meat products, White Rose and Tetley's Tea. Princetonians may see Tiger Chewing Tobacco and recall the days when the Pulver Chewing Gum's slogan was "one cent delivers a tasty chew." George Washington tobacco boasted that their brand was the Greatest American Cut Plug.

Penny candies will be for sale in the Country Store during the exhibit.

Culbreth, Route 206, $15 each and Malcolm Benjamin, 22 Cedar Lane, $25. Bryon H. Coates, 23 Witherspoon, paid $10, no license or registration in possession.

In the face of dwindling summer ridership—down to less than 600 passengers last week—and increasing costs of subsidy—up to more than $1,300 a week, the Borough and Township finally got their signals straight and decided to give the loop bus a summer vacation, effective next Tuesday, July 1.

If any summer bus service is restored, Township Mayor Jay Bleiman said, it would be in the form of a single bus following a curtailed route. That possibility would be discussed by Committee and Council this week and, if agreed upon, a big "if," according to Mayor Bleiman, such limited service might be initiated July 7.

Otherwise loop bus service will not resume until sometime in September. Township and Borough officials will continue to ponder ways of supporting a bus system in a community still wedded to the automobile.

and sale of controlled dangerous substances.

He was arrested last week in his home after a police investigation by Det. Anthony Pinelli, who said the youth had more than 25 grams of marijuana and a large quantity of peyote in his possession. He is presently awaiting action by a Mercer County Juvenile Court, according to Det. Pinelli, the Township's juvenile officer.

4 WINDOWS BROKEN

In School Building. Four 41x28-inch windows of the Stony Brook Administration Building of the Princeton Regional School System on Stockton Road were broken last week by stones and a baseball.

Township police said that the rear windows, valued at $138, had been knocked out during the night. A baseball was found by police on a rear upper floor. P.D. William Potts is investigating.

WITHERSPOON HONORED

Named Man of the Year. State Senator Anne C. Martindell of Princeton has introduced into the New Jersey State Senate a Joint Resolution designating 1975 as John Witherspoon Year.

John Witherspoon, a Presbyterian minister and President of the College of New Jersey (now Princeton University) was a signer of the Declaration of Independence and the only clergyman in the Continental Congress. He was a member of the New Jersey Provincial Congress, where he was instrumental in forming the first New Jersey Constitution, and later was a member of the State Legislative Council and the General Assembly.

"As a patriot," said Senator Martindell, "John Witherspoon, more than any other New Jerseyan, stirred the state for liberty and resistance to British tyranny, preaching that 'there is not a single instance in history in which civil liberty is lost and religious liberty preserved entire.' He led the students and faculty of the College of New Jersey in a boycott of British goods and organized and helped to drill five companies of militia."

"As an educator, Witherspoon wielded great influence in the early life of our Republic," continued Mrs. Martindell. "His students included a president, vice-president, ten cabinet officers, twenty-one senators, thirty-nine congressmen and twelve governors, as well as other public figures."

"I can think of no other New Jerseyan to whom we could more appropriately dedicate the first year of our bicentennial," added Senator Martindell.

The skin is the case for the entire body, and is really its largest organ, experts tell us. Every inch of skin is really as important to good health and good looks as the skin on the face. To function adequately, the skin of the whole body must be kept clean and stimulated by a dry brush rub before bathing, and a brisk towel rubdown afterwards. Drink enough water, take a bath or shower every day, and the pores of the skin will be active and normally throw off perspiration. Deodorant is best on active skin.

CALL THESE 'PAPER TIGERS': James S.K. Tung, curator of Princeton University's Gest Oriental Library, inspects the current exhibit of Chinese art dealing with tigers. The Gest Library is located on the second floor of Palmer-Jones Hall on the University campus and is open from 9 to 4:30 weekdays.

ART In Princeton

TIGER! TIGER! TIGER!
On Exhibit at University. The "lao-hu" is the subject of the current exhibit at the Gest Oriental Library of Princeton University. It is a fitting subject, for lao-hu is the Chinese word for tiger. While the Princeton tiger is sometimes depicted as a benevolent or comic mascot, the tiger, according to James S.K. Tung, curator of the Gest Library, "is called by the Chinese the king of the wild beasts. It is taken as the emblem of magisterial dignity and sternness, as the model for tenacious courage and fierceness, and its presence or roar is synonymous with danger and terror."

The exhibit, which is open to the public from 9 to 4:30 Monday through Friday through October, is located in the exhibition area of the Library on the second floor of Palmer-Jones Hall. The most striking item in the display is a tiger embroidered on satin which was presented to Princeton on its Bicentennial in 1946 by Kuo-cheng Wu, who received his M.A. and his Ph.D. here. He was formerly Mayor of Shanghai and Governor of Taiwan, the Republic of China. Roaring tigers, stalking tigers, sleeping tigers, bronze vessels in the likeness of tigers, and toy tigers are depicted in paintings, paper cutting, photographs and illustrations.

Tenacious Tiger. A poster sent in 1927 by the Rev. H.G.C. Hallock (GS 1893) from Shanghai to a friend in this country shows Chang Tao-ling, the first Taoist Pope in China, riding a tiger which is crushing with its paws the five poisonous creatures that injure the health. Chang is finely dressed and carries his magic sword and a cup of the elixir of lasting life. A small tiger following behind carries Chang's gavel of authority. In the letter which accompanied the poster, which is also displayed, the minister noted that "50 million of these posters are pasted up and worshipped each year."

Jinglestone, which is open Wednesday through Sunday from 12 until 5, will feature a show of whimsical paintings drawings, collage, sculpture

FARRINGTON HONORED

By Council on the Arts. The New Jersey State Council on the Arts has paid tribute to the late Assemblyman and Freeholder Charles E. Farrington of Princeton, who played a major role in the work leading to the formation of the Council in the 1960's. Alvin E. Gershen, Chairman of the State Arts Council, said that the Council had adopted a resolution eulogizing Mr. Farrington, who died on May 14, and his work as a legislator, public official, patron of the arts and a professional musician. The Council's resolution "expresses its profound grief and sorrow at his untimely death and honors the memory of Charles E. Farrington and pays deep tribute and gratitude for the lasting good he effected for all New Jerseyans."

The resolution cited that Mr. Farrington's record as "a patron of the arts who contributed his talents successfully to cultural and artistic endeavors and... made outstanding contributions to the quality of cultural life by his leadership as Chairman of the Commission to Study the Arts in New Jersey when he was a member of the New Jersey Assembly." The resolution noted that the New Jersey State Council on the Arts was subsequently established to coordinate and support arts endeavors as a product of the recommendations of the Commission lead by Mr. Farrington.

The Council also lauded Mr. Farrington's record as a performing artist, noting "he had participated actively as a professional musician and served in leadership roles in that endeavor as well, and served the citizens of New Jersey with generosity, intelligence, understanding and outstanding ability as a public servant of the highest ideals and integrity."

The State Arts Council was formed in 1966 to support the arts as a result of the Commission to Study the Art's findings and recommendations. Members of the Council are appointed by the Governor and volunteer their time.

By John Bernard

One of the strangest records in big league baseball history is held by Herb Washington... Although he never came to bat last season for the Oakland A's, he still scored 29 runs -- and was 7th in the league in stolen bases! Washington got into 92 games, but always as a pinchrunner, and never batted... Thus, he's the only man in history to be among league leaders in an offensive department without ever batting.

See if you can name this unusual brother combination... One of these men led the American League, in baseball, in batting a few years ago while his brother is a leading ground gainer in the National Football League... Who are they?... Answer is Alex Johnson who won the American League batting title in 1970... His brother, Ron, is a leading National Football League runner.

Of all the pitchers in big league baseball today, which one has won 20 or more games the most seasons?... Answer is Fergie Jenkins who has won 20 or more in seven different seasons... Next comes Bob Gibson who has had five different seasons winning 20 or more.

I bet you didn't know that we have never sold a house. Insurance is our only business, and we are proud of the fact. Try us. You just might like us.

ENGINE NO. 1 LEADER
In PYBA League. Following last week's action in the Princeton Youth Baseball league only Engine Co. 1 remains undefeated. Going into the week, three teams had shared the lead.

Engine Co. 1 stopped the previously undefeated Elks, 5-4, when Mike Thompson homered in the final inning. Kevin Johnson pitched well for the victors, striking out ten and allowing just three hits, one a double by Dave Hill. Losing pitcher Paul Krasnoff tossed a two-hitter, also striking out ten.

Brent Robinson yielded just two hits and struck out 13 to lead No. 1 to an 18-0 rout of Roma Eterna, which had also entered the week undefeated. Tim Hunt tripled and drove in three runs and Kevin Johnson also added a triple to power No. 1 to its fourth consecutive victory.

Defending league champion Post 76 gained its first win, topping U.A. Local 380, 7-1. Chip Kleiber pitched a three-hitter and struck out 12. He also doubled to spark the Post 76 offense along with Terry Phox and Doug Thompson. Alex Colt doubled and Josh Miller and Greg Leiberman hit safely for Local 380.

Terry Phox had three hits, one a double, Peter Nelson two hits, and Chip Kleiber a double for the losers.

Gross (triple) and Jeff Skillman (double) led the Eagles.

The Eagles ended their three game losing streak with a 7-4 victory over U.A. Local 380. Paul Kenny was the winning pitcher. Mike Mullusky doubled and John Denny had two hits and pitched well in relief in the victory. Bill Snead had two hits and Josh Miller a double for the losers.

PIASC captured its first win of the year with a 5-1 victory over Roma Eterna. Chris Harford got the win and contributed two hits, one a double. Bill Perna had two triples to pace the PIASC attack. Todd Bull also tripled for the winners.

WILL'S SHELL ON TOP
In West Windsor League. After the opening weeks of play, Will's Shell is on top in the West Windsor-Washington Babe Ruth League with a 4-0 record. Edinburg is one game behind at 3-1 in the seven-team league.

District 7 Babe Ruth officials have announced pairings for the upcoming all-star tournaments.

The West Windsor-Washington 13-year old all-stars, managed by Larry Burd, will oppose Hightstown Saturday, July 5, at 1 at Hancock Field, Whitcomb Road, Hightstown.

The 15-year old all-stars, managed by Al Lombardo and coached by Mike Hutchinson and Dick Probasco, will meet the South Trenton all-stars, next Monday night at 8:30, at South Trenton Field, Bunting Avenue, Trenton.

In last week's games, Will's Shell defeated Lucar, 12-3 behind the one-hit pitching of Harold Schell. Jim Lombardo, Jeff Mount and Schell each had two hits for Will's, while Rick Barker had the only hit for Lucar.

In Will's Shell's 4-3 victory over the Lions, Schell pitched 4 1-3 inning of relief, allowing no hits and striking out eight. Tom Murphy's two-out, two-run single in the last inning brought Will's its victory. The losers collected three hits, including a double by Mark Wasco.

Edinburg won a pair of games, defeating Rug Mart, 10-6, and blanking Washington, 4-0.

In the Rug Mart contest (called after 5 1/2 innings because of rain), Edinburg capitalized on 13 walks to hand the losers their first defeat. Joe Nini's triple highlighted a six-run first inning which also included singles by Chris Schiabe and Dan Vernon. Winning pitcher Len Schiabe struck out ten and scattered five hits.

Edinburg's Nini then matched up with Rich Gosselin of Washington in a pitchers' duel that saw Nini strike out 13 and allow two hits while Gosselin was even more impressive with 17 Ks. He allowed only one hit but lost the game on costly errors and passed balls.

Gosselin and Washington rebounded with a 9-1 win over Rug Mart in which Gosselin fanned 15. Washington outlit the losers, 9-1.

Rug Mart was on the winning end of a 4-1 victory over Lucar as Mark Potts limited the losers to a pair of singles by Ed Schroeder and John Bocchino.

Rug Mart scored two runs without a hit and added a third on Tim Watson's double. Tom Moore's single was the key hit in the fifth when Rug Mart scored its final run.

SECOND ONE-HITTER
For Dana Nini. After six games Princeton's Senior Babe Ruth team keeps rolling along, defeating Lawrence and Hamilton VFW last week to increase its record to 5-1.

Princeton avenged the only blemish on its record with a 1-0 shading of Lawrence. Dana Nini gained his second one-hit victory and his second shutout in two starts. Lawrence batters could not solve him as he struck out nine and gave up two walks to allow only three runners on base.

Princeton scored its only run in the first inning when Scott Thompson singled home Eric Jahn. The Princeton offense was led by Scott Thompson and Paul Soderman, who each had two hits, and by the Shillaber brothers, Mike and Dave, who each singled.

Princeton then stretched its winning streak to five as it exploded for 11 runs and an 11-0 shutout of Hamilton VFW. Pitcher Mike Boonin gained his second victory, scattering four hits and walking two.

Soderman, Thompson and Dave Seagers each had two hits and Boonin and Dave Shillaber one to pace the nine-hit Princeton attack.

Princeton erupted for five runs in the second inning, when it sent ten batters to the plate. Ed Volz, Dave Seagers and Boonin all singled and Paul Soderman smashed the first of his two doubles.

Princeton connected for five hits and six more runs before the game was ended in the fifth inning. Neither of two Hamilton pitchers received support as the Hamilton fielders made six errors to let in six unearned runs.

TENNIS PLAYOFFS BEGIN
In West Windsor. The men's spring doubles championships in West Windsor will be decided this Thursday at 8:30 at the township tennis courts. The women's doubles title was scheduled to conclude Wednesday night.

As the layoffs began this Monday the West Windsor Recreation Commission announced the following teams in contention for the men's title: Hilton Anderson, Fritz Blaicher, and Bernt

TRIPLE WINNER

In Spring Tennis Tournament, Princeton's Laura Goldfeld turned the annual Princeton Indoor Tennis Center's annual spring tournament into a personal triumph by winning all three events she entered. There were 290 entries for the five tournaments.

Mrs. Goldfeld, seeded number one, defeated Robina Ross of Princeton, 6-4, 6-3, to win the women's singles title. She teamed with Jackie Ockerlander of Princeton to defeat Mrs. Ross and Patty Wall in three sets, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, in the finals of the women's doubles.

In the mixed doubles, Mrs. Goldfeld and her partner, Bill Dwyer of Trenton, lost the first set, 3-6, to Ms. Ockerlander and David Saltzman of Cranbury. They won the next two, however, in convincing fashion, 6-2, 6-0.

TRIPLE TENNIS WINNER: Laura Goldfeld, 40 Leabrook Lane, won three events in the annual spring tournament in the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center. Seeded no. 1, she was the defending singles champion.

The men's singles championship was captured by Jack McCarthy III, who defeated Fred Sadler of Plainsboro, 6-3, 6-1. He was unseeded.

In the men's doubles, McCarthy and John Patberg of Plainsboro defeated Bryce Thompson and Jack McCarthy II, the younger McCarthy's father, 6-0, 6-3, in the final round.

'OVER-45' ADDED

To Men's Tennis Tournament. The men's singles tournament for the Princeton community will begin Saturday and will feature this year an over 45 division. Thursday is the last day that entries will be accepted.

John Bauman is the tournament chairman, and questions may be directed to him at 924-6927.

Those who would like to compete should come to the Tennis Office, 71 University Place or check the bulletin board at the Pagoda Courts to obtain entry blanks.

TWO ARE UNDEFEATED

In Rabe Ruth League. The Princeton Babe Ruth league opened its season last week and after two games it appears that Tiger Garage has a good chance of repeating as league champion.

Challenging Tiger will be Princeton Bank and Trust; both are undefeated, while the league's remaining two teams, Thorne's Pharmacy and PBA, are winless.

In its first start, Tiger Garage blanked Thorne's, 1-0, in a game that was decided when Tony Opperman, the winning pitcher, scored on a wild pitch. Opperman and losing pitcher John Boccanfuso both threw two-hitters.

Tiger Garage made it two in a row with an 11-1 drubbing of PBA. Al Kandell led the Tiger offense with three hits, while Mike Baxter tripled, Tony Opperman doubled, and winning pitcher Jon Miller had two hits. Bruno Perna led the PBA offense with two hits.

Princeton Bank and Trust opened with a 14-3 victory over PBA as Carl Nazzaro pitched well to pick up the victory and got lots of help from the PB&T offense. Tom Fitzgerald had two hits, Bill Lapsley two doubles and Keith Phox also doubled. The PBA offense was led by Ron Ward.

PB&T remained undefeated with a 5-1 victory over Thorne's Pharmacy behind Keith Phox's two-hit pitching. PB&T broke the game open with two runs in the last inning. Jamie Robertson and Bob Cook were the only Thorne's batters to get hits.

PHS PLAYER HONORED

By Lacrosse Selection. Alex Kinnan, a senior midfielder on the Princeton High School lacrosse team, has been honored by his selection to the second team all-state lacrosse team.

A starter for the past three years, Kinnan was third in scoring for the Little Tigers with 16 goals this season. Teammate Mace Mohrman, senior attack, received an honorable mention to the all-state selections. He led the PHS in scoring this year with 20 goals.

Both played in the annual North-South all-star game, comprised of all-state players, which was held at the Livingston High School field. As members of the South squad, Mace scored a goal and Alex added an assist, but the South lost, 9-8, in double overtime.

"THE HOUSE OF MANY VISTAS"

From every room of this estate size contemporary you will look out upon a different aspect of your own delightful rolling land. Flowering trees, groves of pine, flowing meadow — peace and privacy.

And what a house! Designed by Princeton architect Francis Comstock, with later additions by John Diehl and Philetus Holt, it flows from one glass walled room to another. A high ceilinged living room (fireplace of course) is the central attraction with the banquet sized dining room vying for attention. Both offer space for paintings, tapestries, objets d'art — and a handsome Nakashima contemporary chandelier over the dining table will stay with the house. The kitchen was designed for — and by — a gourmet cook.

The secluded master bedroom suite, with "breezeway" sitting room, dressing area and bath opens on one side to a pool surrounded by rose and perennial gardens, on the other side to a shaded circular redwood deck — an informal outdoor living room! Two other bedrooms, a study with wet bar (could double as fourth bedroom), bath and powder room. This is an enchanting house, and a contemporary that will excite even the most conservative.

Offered on seven plus acres, beautifully landscaped, both for easy maintenance and for utmost privacy.
Price on request.

"THE HOUSE OF SEVEN ASSETS"

If you're looking for a home that is: 1) medium-sized, 2) pleasantly pretty, 3) clean as a whistle; 4) beautifully planted, 5) conveniently located; 6) reasonably priced; 7) doesn't need another penny spent on it — this is your house. Living room with fireplace and picture window; dining room with door out to the delightful screened porch; efficient kitchen with eating counter, large paneled family room, 4 cheerful bedrooms (one a huge, bright, top-level honey!) — all look out on the lovely evergreens, flowering shrubs, assorted trees and plants that give the house fine visual protection and eye appeal. Practically speaking, 2 1/2 baths, basement with laundry tub, attached garage, good closets and general storage, perfect condition, plus easy access to busline and Lake Carnegie round out the many advantages of a nice property offered at a nice price.
$75,000.

AN ENCHANTING GARDEN,

walled for privacy, is one of the delightful features of this four bedroom brick French provincial home. On a quiet cul de sac near the lake, it is still within walking distance of the highly desired Riverside school.

And what a house! Handsome living room, some thirty feet long, cozy wood paneled den with fireplace, excellent dining room, and an eat in kitchen opening to the pleasantly shaded rear yard. The master suite is complete with dressing room and bath, secluded in its own wing from the three other bedrooms and hall bath.

Central air conditioning, immaculate condition within, and an easy care, no maintenance exterior without. This house is a find!

Offered for September occupancy at $119,500

THINK COLONIAL!

Our newest listing, in highly desirable Longacres, is a lot of house for the money. Four bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, dining room with chair rail, den or family room with parquet floor and opening to the terrace, eat-in kitchen with new carpeting — and of course a fireplace in the living room. Air conditioning, some carpets and draperies are included.

All on a wooded, beautifully landscaped acre. Could you ask for more at a price of just $75,500?

A STONE HOUSE

as rare as a day in June, this handsome, perfectly maintained home is set on an attractive corner lot in a fine residential area of Pennington. The welcoming entry hall leads to a spacious L-shaped living room with stone fireplace. Down a few steps from the excellent kitchen is a formal dining room that can double as conference room for a home oriented profession. A recreation room, study or fourth bedroom plus roughed in bath, laundry and utility room complete this lower level.

Quality is evident throughout from the full basement with steel beam construction, fine masonry work, and the generous size of the three bedrooms and two tiled baths.

A small terrace to one side of the house, a covered slate patio at the back (great for rainy day barbecues) a lot bordered by pines for complete privacy, and a double attached garage. That's the story of our newest listing.

And one we are proud to present at $88,500.

LOVE LAND?

then this red frame ranch in the northwest township is for you. Tucked away on three acres of rocky woodland in a quiet rural area, it offers interesting possibilities for a space loving single person or a small family. Entry hall; fine big drop-down living room with nice fireplace, panelling, and a three way outlook; dining room with glass doors out to a pebbled terrace; cheery freshly painted kitchen with new stove; two delightful bedrooms; a big family room now used as a spacious master bedroom; good-size bath — almost all are light and bright (thanks to judicious clearing) and look out on the lovely woodsy setting. Some plaster walls, hardwood floors and solid basic construction (1947 vintage) are extra advantages of this unusual house with its country privacy and close-enough-to-town-for-easy-access location.

Newly reduced to $64,500.

IN THE EIGHTEENTH century, there was a lighting device known as a cresset lamp. Very similar to andirons, only taller, they were used singly or in pairs in the fireplace. They were of wrought iron, and had a cup-like ap-purtenance at the top for holding pine knots, etcetera, which were then burned to give off light for the surrounding area. Being quite rare today, JOSEPH'S COAT ANTIQUES is pleased to offer one for sale along with various other eighteenth century pieces such as a brass bed warmer with a wooden handle, a wrought iron oven peel, a fireplace shovel with wooden finial, and fireplace tongs with a brass finial. We also have a brass tipped bellows in pine, nineteenth century.

You may visit the shop any day from 10:30 to 5 p.m. We're located north on Highway 27, just about 5 miles from Princeton.
